Shakespeare's declaration that "if music be the food of love, play on," may have special significance to many of Canyon's young men who find the unusually high ratio of girls to boys at the West Texas Instrumental Music Camp much to their liking. Relaxing after hours with a pretty McAllen musician, John Denton, a Canyon High School senior with more inclination toward athletics than music-making, is one of the local boys suddenly-turned music connoisseur during the run of the two-week camp.

20 Judges Due For WT Institute

Twenty county and district judges from throughout the state and experts in juvenile behavior from throughout the country will begin arriving in Canyon this weekend to participate in the first Juvenile Judges Institute to be held on the West Texas State University campus.

The institute, which is to concentrate for three weeks on the role of the juvenile in the state court system, begins Monday on the campus with a slate of speakers for the morning and classwork for the afternoon and evening.

The twenty judges will be welcomed to the county and campus by local Judge Woody Pond, Dr. James P. Cornette, university chancellor, State Reps. Ben Bynum and Bryan Poff and State Sen. Max Sherman.

Other dignitaries to be on hand for the morning session will be representatives of the Texas Center for the Judiciary, sponsoring agency for the institute, and the Texas Criminal Justice Council.

Institute Director Dr. Brent Lynch, professor of government at WTSU, said guest speakers as well as local faculty members will present more than eight hours of instruction per day through the institute to the judges on everything from arresting a juvenile to drug abuse, alcoholism and the appellate procedure for juveniles.

A keynote speaker for the second week of the institute will be Dr. Paul Bramwell, clinical psychologist with the Atascadero State Hospital in California. Dr. Bramwell is program director for rehabilitation of sex and violent offenders for the hospital.

Lynch said more than a third of Dr. Bramwell's patients are sent by the California Youth Authority. He will present several lectures through the institute's second week on the sex and violent crime offender.

Other speakers include 181st Dist. Judge Don Dean, who will speak Monday night on the statutes of the state and the process of juvenile law. Jerry Kolander, Amarillo attorney who was formerly judge of court of domestic relations in Amarillo, will also speak.

Dr. Mitchell Jones, child psychiatrist in Amarillo, will speak to the judges on child psychiatry.

Lynch said the primary thrust of the institute is to inform the judges about who and what is available to them as juvenile judges and what they can and cannot do in their courts.

Various panel discussions concerning alcoholism, drug abuse and other topics are also slated.

Various tours of youth detention facilities are also slated.

Judges scheduled to attend the institute will stay in university facilities and will use university classrooms.

Judges attending are Judge Glenn W. Thompson of Cochran County, Judge Henry Heck of Hale County, Judge H.C. Williams of Deaf Smith County, Judge Norman Breed of Culberson County, Judge Leslie Pratt of Dawson County, Judge W.T. Mills of Reagan County, Judge Grainger McIlhany of the 31st District Court, Judge O.F. Nelson Jr. of Chambers County, Judge Spencer Whippo of Ochiltree County, Judge Warren Jenkins of Lipscomb County, Judge Ezelle Fox of Moore County, Judge George Twowell of DeWitt County, Judge L.L. Martin of Erath County, Judge Doyle Ziler of Hudspeth County, Judge Jack Driskill of Swisher County.

City Discrimination Complaint Poses Problems For Feds, Locals

A Canyon city employee's complaint that the city's retirement system discriminates against women has apparently opened a can of worms for federal as well as local officials.

For nearly a year, City Manager George Loudder has been corresponding with officials from the Texas Municipal Retirement System and the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission to determine whether the retirement system does, in fact, discriminate against women in providing benefits.

Mrs. Marguerite Strain, who has been employed by the city 28 years, charged discrimination last August and since that time Loudder has been trying to determine whether the TMRS, which the city is a member of, does discriminate.

TMRS officials flatly deny they discriminate and base their case on insurance company precedents.

Equal Employment Opportunity Commission officials have turned the case over to their legal advisors who have yet to make a definite opinion.

Mrs. Strain charged last August that she must work five years longer to receive the same benefits a man would receive for five years fewer work.

She pointed out that the TMRS uses a formula to figure retirement benefits which requires that for women employees to receive benefits equal to a male employee's benefits, the women must work longer. If the women work an equal length of time, they receive less in the way of retirement benefits.

Loudder, who contends that Mrs. Strain's complaint raises serious questions in regard to the way insurance benefits are figured as well as retirement benefits, met with Luther Holcomb, vice chairman of the equal employment opportunity commission, last fall and Holcomb turned the problem over to the Washington legal office.

"I think Holcomb realizes how complex the problem is," Loudder said this week.

Meanwhile, complaints have also been filed with the EEOC in San Antonio.

The complexity of the problem is indicated in a letter which Loudder received this week from Holcomb.

"Obviously," he said, "this has opened up a general area where the guidelines are difficult to reconcile with what's happened."

Holcomb says in his letter that although no final legal opinion has been rendered on the problem, the EEOC has a position on the subject.

"Under section 1604.9 of our Guidelines on Discrimination Because of Sex, it is an unlawful employment practice for an employer to discriminate between men and women with regard to fringe benefits," the letter states. "In the pension benefits area, employers contend that because women as a class live longer than men as a class, to provide equal benefits for both sexes will require the expenditure of more to

All Happy With Taxes, Commissioners Decide

A surprised commissioners' court surveyed the empty room Monday afternoon, talked briefly and recessed as a board of equalization when no one showed up to take them to task for their 1973 taxes.

"This is unusual," said Mrs. Audrey Bruse, tax assessor-collector. "This is the first time this has happened."

County Clerk LeRoy Hutton confirmed he had sent more than 500 notices to Randall County property owners informing them that their taxes for 1973 had been adjusted on the tax rolls.

Commissioners met as a board of equalization following their regular Monday meeting. They recessed after about 20 minutes and vowed to hear any tax complaints Monday.

"Everybody must be happy," quipped one commissioner as they recessed.

Several property owners came before the Canyon School District board of equalization recently and historically, the county board has heard several complaints.

In business during regular session Monday, commissioners okayed a hike in benefits for Randall County employees in hospitalization insurance.

Charles Fritch, who handles the county employee insurance, presented a new policy for the county group which he says will provide better coverage during an era of rapidly rising health care costs.

The new policy raises room allowance for hospital care from $30 per day to $50 per day.

Fritch said semi-private hospital rooms in Amarillo are averaging about $43.50 per day while semi-private rooms in Dallas hospitals are about $50 per day.

Commissioners gave a negative response to Glenn Phillips, representing the Amarillo Federal Employees Credit Union, who sought a payroll deduction plan for county employees.

Phillips said he has been approached by several county employees about the possibility of establishing a deduction plan whereby regular monthly savings or loan deductions could be made from their payroll checks.

"Our feeling is to leave it as is and if we make a change we'll be glad to work with you on it," Judge Woody Pond said.

Commissioners approved continuation of the hiring of vocational office education students from Canyon High School to work part-time in the county tax office.

Mrs. Bruse said she has been using VOE students for three years and found the arrangement satisfactory.

Commissioners approved the purchase of a dictating machine for Dist. Atty. George Dowlen's office at a cost of $524 from Dictaphone.

Buffs Want MVC Crown All To Themselves In 73

With season ticket sales on an upswing, West Texas State University's 1973 football season prospects are blooming.

The Buffaloes return nine offensive and nine defensive starters from last year's team which won five and lost five, but shared first place in the Missouri Valley Conference race with Drake and Louisville.

Through Tuesday's ticket selling campaign, the Buffalo athletic staff had sold 3,154 season tickets and there are still several weeks remaining in the campaign to top last year's total of 4,108 season tickets.

At least one national football magazine (Game Plan, College Edition) has favored the Buffaloes for the Missouri Valley Conference crown. Other magazines have picked the Buffaloes as low as fourth place in the final MVC standings.

Coach Gene Mayfield will welcome 44 lettermen into the fall training camp Aug. 20, when the Buffaloes start practice for their Sept. 8 home opener against Drake.

The Buffaloes close their 1973 campaign at home against Louisville Nov. 24 and that is the other team which was tied for the MVC title last fall.

The New York Jets scouting staff has named Billy Pritchett as the top running back prospect among 1973 collegiate players this summer. The big senior running back from Van Vleck, Tex., could well be the key man for the 1973 Buffalo squad.

Pritchett was injured in the sixth game of the season in 1972 after rushing for 436 yards. He gained 1,128 as a sophomore in a year when the Buffaloes won only two of 11 games.

The big Buffalo running back underwent knee surgery to correct the injury and it is hoped that he will be back in the same form he enjoyed as a sophomore.

In order to strengthen their passing game, the Buffalo coaches switched from the Wishbone-T to the I formation in the spring. From that formation Pritchett could run from either the tailback or fullback position. He operated last year as a Wishbone fullback before his injury.

Also returning from the team which led the MVC in rushing last fall with a 260.3-yard per game average are the other six leading rushers. That list is headed by Borger's Cole Fraley, who led the team in rushing in 1972. Other key returning offensive backs are Jimmy Lisle, Rick Schleider, Clois Burgess and Mickey Matthews.

Burgess started the final four games of the 1972 season at fullback after Pritchett's injury. He, Schleider and Matthews played all of the 1972 season on the varsity as freshmen.

A three-way battle took place at the quarterback position dur-

Weekend's Rains Help Grain Crop

Nearly two inches of rain which fell during the nights Saturday and Sunday came at a critical time for Randall County grain sorghum farmers, according to County Agent John Brazzil.

"We had good rains and it looks like they were pretty well widespread," Brazzil reported.

A total of .90 of an inch was reported at the Randall County sheriff's office from the Saturday night rains and a total of .60 of an inch was reported from Sunday night's rains.

Brazzil said other reports throughout the county ranged from an inch and half total to two inches in some areas.

"It was a beautiful time to get rain," he said, "because of the grain sorghum crop condition."

While June weather was hot and dry and favored the massive record wheat harvest here, grain sorghum crops suffered from the lack of needed moisture.

"We're beginning to approach the time when the grain sorghum uses the maximum amount of water," he said, stressing that rains are critical between July 20 and Aug. 15.

Brazzil noted that the two weekend showers when coupled with an early week shower last week brightened moisture prospects considerably.

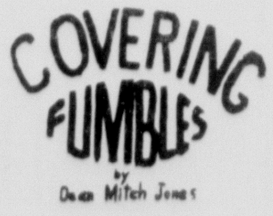
"The crop looks good right now," he said. "We're having some problems with greenbugs and we've had a limited amount of spraying."

Apparently, Brazzil said, the parasitic wasp which feeds on greenbugs is having its effect and minimizing the danger of massive greenbug infestation.

The county agent said local farmers planted about as many acres in grain sorghum this year they planted last year. Generally, he said, between 75,000 and 100,000 acres are planted in the county in grain sorghum, which until this year was the county's number one cash crop.

Wheat has taken that lead this year for the first time in two decades.

Around 35,000 acres of that total will be irrigated.



If I do get really "old" I "bet" they feed me chicken — and they will say, "He just won't eat until he is terribly hungry."

Survey Finished On Center

West Texas State University students would be primary users of a day-care center and more than 60 children could participate in the center if such a center were available in Canyon, a survey taken recently indicates.

The survey, conducted by a committee appointed by County Judge Woody Pond, was taken in the city through The Canyon News and through individual surveys taken on the WTSU campus.

Mary Lou Farnum, assistant dean of student life for women, was in charge of the survey tabulation.

Results of the survey will be given the Texas Panhandle Community Action board of directors through Judge Pond.

The survey is part of a Panhandle-wide effort to determine the communities which have the greatest need for federally-funded day-care centers for preschool children.

The community action program has received a federal grant to fund day-care center operations in only a handful of Panhandle communities.

The Canyon survey indicated

Committee On Vet Laboratory Encourages WTSU's Smallwood

A four-man committee representing Texas A&M eyed possible sites for a veterinary diagnostic laboratory on the West Texas State University campus Monday and Dr. Charles Smallwood, dean of the WTSU school of agriculture, said he was encouraged by the visit.

The committee is charged by A&M regents to find a suitable site in either Potter or Randall counties for a $1 million laboratory which would primarily serve the burgeoning Panhandle cattle industry.

The committee made its first stop in the two counties on the WTSU campus, then traveled to Amarillo to view a site in the Amarillo medical center complex, a site at the A&M research station at Bushland and a site on the Texas State Technical Institute campus north of Amarillo.

"They were very receptive and very amiable," Dr. Smallwood said after meeting with the committee. "We had a good discussion on the criteria. They were very communicative. I was encouraged."

Dr. Smallwood said the committee, after hearing WTSU's proposal, was complimentary of the site possibilities and the proposal made.

"I was much more pleased with the visit than I expected to be," he said.

The committee spent Monday morning hearing WTSU's proposal and viewing the possible sites on the campus. They were also treated to a luncheon on campus, which was attended by several area dignitaries.

Dr. Smallwood based his presentation on the historical support by and the involvement of WTSU in the development and funding of the veterinary laboratory, on the ideal location of Canyon in the Panhandle cattle-raising industry, and support pledged for the university site by various chambers of commerce, livestock groups and legislators.

His proposal says a main factor in locating the laboratory in Canyon is the city's accessibility. "The majority of beef cattle on feed are located immediately west and south of Canyon, whereas those producers north would be as accessible to Canyon as other possible locations," the proposal says.

It notes the truck routes, bus connections and airport facilities to Canyon.

The proposal also cites support from the Canyon, Amarillo, and Hereford chambers of commerce and the Amarillo Board of City Development.

It cites support from the Associated Milk Producers, Inc., the Greater West Texas Angus Association, the Golden Spread Charolais Association, the Panhandle Hereford Breeders Association, the Texas Pork Producers Association and the West Texas legislative delegation.

Five sites on the university campus were viewed by the committee Monday. One site is on land just north of Kimbrough Memorial Stadium, another is on the WTSU horsefarm north of Canyon, another is on the east side of the university main campus on Spur 48 and another is

While some Canyon kids are swimming, riding bikes, picnicking and making the drag, campers and counselors at Hidden Falls Ranch, a nondenominational camp located southeast of Canyon near Wayside, spend summer weeks in craft activities, practicing on archery and rifle ranges, riding horses, camping on the rugged Canyon floor, attending Bible classes and painting props for the next Friday night banquet, as in the case of counselor, Cathy Carpenter, from Lubbock.

MVC Opponents Strong, Ready For Football Fight

The West Texas State University Buffaloes emerged in 1972 with a sizeable chunk of the Missouri Valley Conference championship and the Buffs, while they'd like a repeat season in the winner's circle, will find MVC opponents who have their sights set on the same goal.

Four new coaches will debut this year in the MVC and they'll lead teams which in most instances have more strength than was exhibited last fall. F. A. Dry will begin his first full season at Tulsa after spending five full games of the 1972 season as interim coach. Hayden Fry has taken over at North Texas State after an 11-year stint at SMU. T. W. Alley assumes coaching duties at Louisville and Jim Bradley returns to New Mexico State after a career as high school coach.

First MVC opponent this fall for the Buffs will be Drake, which shared the conference championship with WTSU and Louisville last year.

Valley officials say Drake is looking to win the championship outright this year and that Drake has good material to match the job.

Jack Wallace, MVC coach-of-the-year in 1972, has given Sophomore Jonas Sears the starting quarterback slot and looks to Jerry Heston and Jim O'Connor to share running chores in the Drake backfield.

MVC officials predict that defense will be an asset for Drake this season with seven starters returning including three linemen and a pair of linebackers plus a couple of defensive backs.

"Our defense will be as good or better than last year," Wallace has been quoted as saying.

The Bulldogs will have a new lineup in their offensive line, though, and that could be a trouble spot.

The Buffs meet the Bulldogs in their season opener Sept. 8.

Second Buffalo opponent will be MVC challenger Tulsa which will have the fewest returning starters of any team in the conference with nine.

MVC officials predict that the Hurricanes will be strong offensively but only average on defense. Six starters return to the offense, including Raymond Rhodes, a 184-pound wide receiver who is an all-conference candidate.

Four regulars return to bolster the interior offensive line.

Three returnees will be in the lineup on the defense including Danny Colbert, a pre-season All-America choice by the football writer's association, Al Humphrey, a 225-pound linebacker, and Ron Bordigioni, a 235-pound defensive guard.

The Hurricane is expected to return to pro sets this fall with a five-man front on defense.

The Buffs meet Tulsa on Sept. 15.

While former Southwest Conference Coach Hayden Fry may have inherited a losing team at North Texas State, MVC officials are speculating that the SMU veteran can put a winning team on the field this year.

The Mean Green meet the Buffaloes on Sept. 22.

"I simply don't know how good we're going to be," Fry told MVC reporters early this summer. "It'll take time to get things rolling, but we have the potential for a fine football program at North Texas State."

Fifteen players return to start on the Mean Green this fall, seven on offense and eight on defense.

Offensively, say valley officials, a major overhaul is needed, with question marks in many positions.

Officials predict a tough NTSU defensive unit, though, with returning backs Ted Gosline, Warren Isaac and Bobby Owen.

Wichita State will provide the next Buffalo opponent in late October after the Buffs try their non-conference hand on Lamar and Utah State.

Sixteen starters return to the WSU camp this fall, nine on offense and seven on defense to give the Shockers a good nucleus to build from.

Two of those returnees are quarterbacks Gary Monty and Tom Owen, who are well experienced in the starting role. Monty is expected to go into the '73 season as the number one quarterback. Five starters return to bolster the Shocker line.

Rick Dvorak, all-MVC choice last year, leads the Shocker defense which is expected to include primarily experienced players.

The Aggies of New Mexico State will meet the Buffs on Nov. 3 and the Aggies return 13 players to the '73 squad, six on offense and seven on defense.

MVC officials say new coach Bradley faces a "monumental rebuilding job."

The Aggies suffered a dismal 2-9 record in 1972 and allowed 400 points to be scored on them.

Valley observers believe one of the first things Bradley will do is restore balance in the Aggie offense, an offense which passed 80 per cent of the time in 1972.

Quarterback Joe Pisarcik, the nation's fifth ranked passer a year ago, is back along with wide receiver Hank Cook to give the Aggies an aerial threat. Jim Germany, a junior tailback, is expected to be key man in the ground game.

In the defensive department, valley observers see gaps in the interior and the secondary.

Louisville, which shared the MVC championship with Drake and WTSU last year, will be the final Buffalo foe on Nov. 24.

While 14 starters return to the Cardinal squad, some very talented players have departed according to Valley sources.

Dropback passer Len DePaola is the heir apparent to John Madeya at quarterback and Reneau Simpson is expected to shoulder much of the load as running back this year.

Five veterans return to buck up the offensive line and the defensive line is also well padded.

"We believe our offensive line will be second to none," says Coach Alley. "Our defensive line, especially at tackle, has proved it can be devastating over a ten-game schedule."

A major problem anticipated by Alley is depth.

"If we took the field with no new players, we could field a darn good football team," he said. "But, depth would be a problem."

Library Porchlight Campaign Begins Today

Members of the various Canyon civic organizations will be making stops on every lighted front porch in the city this evening, as the City Library's Paperback Book Drive gets underway, with collections being made between the hours of 8 and 10 p.m. today.

The Canyon Library Board, aided by the civic clubs, opens its paperback book project today with a pick-up campaign in which civic club members will collect paperback donations.

Persons wishing to make donations, said Library Board representative Dr. Myron Dees, may do so by turning on their porch light during the designated hours this evening.

— Members of the Canyon Rotary Club will be covering the area south of Fourth Avenue and east of 23rd Street.

— Noon Lion's Club members will be collecting donations in the area west of 23rd Street and south of Fourth Avenue.

— The Evening Lion's Club membership will sweep the area north of Fourth Avenue, east of 23rd Street in the West Texas State University vicinity.

— The Kiwanis Club is responsible for all of the area north of Fourth Avenue and west of 23rd Street.

"We know many of the lighted porches will be false alarms," said Dr. Dees, "but we still feel this is the best way to make the collections."

The City Library will serve as the central distribution point for the donated paperbacks, which will be delivered by members of the city's women's clubs to persons in the city's hospital, nursing home and county jail, said Dr. Dees.

No attempt will be made to determine the content of any of the donated books, said Dr. Dees. He added that the project aims at providing a public service to the city's residents who have little or no access to a steady diet of varied reading material.

City Checking On Plant Reimbursement

City Manager George Loudder said this week he is checking to see if Canyon is eligible to receive a reimbursement from the federal government on construction costs of the city's sewer plant.

Loudder said federal grant funds were made available for construction of the project, but he said he does not know whether the funding was for the entire project.

Cities which constructed sewage treatment plants between July 1, 1966 and July 1, 1972 without benefit of full federal construction grants are eligible for reimbursements, according to Hugh C. Yantis Jr., executive director of the Texas Water Quality Board.

Yantis said applications for reimbursements should be made to the Environmental Protection Agency by Oct. 17.

Canyon's sewage treatment facility, which is located in the southeast portion of the city, was constructed after the July 1, 1966 date and before the July 1, 1972 date.

obtain the same benefits for females as is provided for males."

Nevertheless, says the letter, the guidelines specifically provide that it is not a defense to a charge of sex discrimination in benefits that the cost of such benefits is greater for one sex than the other and the guidelines provide that a pension or retirement system which differentiates in benefits on the basis of sex is an unlawful employment practice.

"Thus, the position of EEOC is that benefits under a pension or retirement plan must be equal for both males and females," the letter states.

But, the letter says, a conflict is apparent when examining the Equal Pay Act, administered by the Department of Labor.

The Department of Labor, Holcomb says, has taken the position that "the Equal Pay Act prohibits sex discrimination in pension and retirement plans to which the employer contributes, but that such coverage does not discriminate under the Equal Pay Act where the contribution which the employer makes or the benefits which the employer receives are equal for both sexes."

The A&M board of regents will make a final decision on the location of the lab, which was approved for construction by the last legislature.

Rep. Bryan Poff of Amarillo carried the ball on the lab through the legislature and his initial bill called for construction of the lab on the WTSU campus.

His bill ran into trouble, though, in the Senate and the Senate version placed the lab in either Potter or Randall counties.

A conference committee was unable to budge the issue and the bill passed with the site left open.

The facility has been appropriated almost $1 million for construction. It is expected to employ about 15 persons.

Judge Denies New Trial Plea

Motion for a new trial for Marvin Edward Lolmaugh, convicted last month of the murder of his father-in-law, was denied Monday afternoon by 181st District Court Judge Don Dean.

Lolmaugh's attorney, Harris Hampton, issued notice of appeal and Lolmaugh remained free this week on $10,000 bond pending his appeal.

Lolmaugh was formally sentenced to serve a 10-year term in the state penitentiary during the Monday session before Judge Dean.

A 181st District Court jury deliberated through the night last month in assessing the Amarillo man the 10-year term.

Following Lolmaugh's sensational trial in Randall County last month, Hampton had filed a motion for new trial, basing his motion on what he termed jury misconduct.

Hampton alleged that the jury when considering punishment for Lolmaugh, considered material not introduced into evidence during the trial.

His motion included affidavits from three Amarillo private detectives and from one Canyon man who had been a juror on the case.

Dist. Atty. George Dowlen objected to the motion for new trial and based his objection on the ground that the affidavits presented in the motion constituted heresay.

Dowlen presented two appellate cases in a brief to Judge Dean to prove his point.

"Is there anything else?" Dean asked Hampton as he browsed through the defendant's motion.

"It depends on the ruling of the court," Hampton said. "If the court doesn't admit the affidavits, I'd like to testify myself."

Dean ruled that the affidavits were heresay and therefore inadmissable as part of the motion.

Following this action, Hampton asked to testify and was allowed to take the stand.

Hampton said that the affidavits were taken by three Amarillo detectives hired by the defendant and the affidavits were typed up from the detectives' notes after they talked with various members of the jury panel.

Hampton said he was present when one of the affidavits was taken, but admitted under cross-examination that the affidavit was not sworn to.

The judge promptly sustained the district attorney's objection to the motion, saying "I see no reason for a hearing" on the defense allegations of jury misconduct.

that 18 persons who answered the survey had income levels between $0 and $7499. Of that number, 10 respondents were WTSU students.

The survey reveals that 19 children between the ages of 0 to 6 years would be available for day-care center usage.

Thirty-six respondents to the survey had incomes of more than $7500. Eighteen of those were WTSU students, eight were WT employees and four were non-students who wish to attend the university.

The survey indicates 46 children to six years of age would be available for day-care centers.

Of the 54 completed surveys, 28 were completed by WTSU students and the surveys indicate 65 children would be available for the program.

Judge Pond said a time has not yet been set for another meeting of the community action program board, which he heads.

He said the survey results will be presented to the board at their next meeting.

In initial studies, the community action board has placed Canyon low on the list of towns which could use a day-care center.

ing the spring and letterman Bob Sweat held the upper hand at the end of spring practice. He, however, underwent surgery on his right throwing shoulder following the spring practice.

Mike Wartes of Hereford, last year's regular quarterback, and junior college transfer Don Nava were the other two quarterbacks in contention for the starting berth. That battle for the starting berth is expected to take up again when fall practice starts Aug. 21.

Returning from the offensive line are mainstays Gary Fennell and Allen Mullins. The 6-5 Mullins injured his knee in spring drills and underwent surgery to correct that injury. It is hoped that he will be at full strength during the fall.

Heading the defense is All-Missouri Valley Conference defensive end Walter Hibbler, a cat-quick defensive end from Lubbock. He has been a two-year regular for the Buffaloes.

The Buffaloes have changed their principal defensive alignment from a four-man front, to a five-man line. At the end opposite Hibbler is transfer Larry Bates, who started for coach Mayfield at Odessa Permian before enrolling at SMU.

Veterans Tony Gorman of Hereford and Larry Wiens of Turpin, Okla., were the starting tackles at the end of spring drills. Transfer John Ayers, a 6-5, 230-pounder, was the nose guard. Ayers transferred from the University of Texas and is expected to be a standout Buffalo defender.

The starting linebackers are expected to be Sunray's Steve Rogers and Bruce Davis, who also started for coach Mayfield at Permian High. Davis missed all of spring drills because of a back injury and underwent surgery to correct that ailment. Both Rogers and Davis were starters last fall.

Two-year starter Daryl Carr is expected to lead the secondary play from his safety position. Robert Edwards, who started most of last year at corner back, is expected to start along side Carr at a safety.

Swift junior college transfers Rick Mordecai and Dennis Little earned starting corner back berths during the spring. One of the prime Buffalo weaknesses in 1972 was the lack of speed at the corner berths. Mordecai and Little are expected to furnish that quickness.

Should the injured players, such as Pritchett, Davis, Mullins and Sweat, return to their normal performances and one of the quarterbacks come along in the passing department, 1973 could well be the year of the Buffalo in the Missouri Valley Conference.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS

TO: BOBBY RAY ROARK, Defendant, Greeting:

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to appear before the Honorable 181st District Court of Randall County at the Courthouse thereof, in Canyon, Texas, by filing a written answer at or before 10 o'clock A.M. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 20th day of August A.D. 1973, to Plaintiff's Petition filed in said court, on the 5th day of July A.D. 1973, in this cause, numbered 12,837-B on the docket of said court and styled IN RE: ADOPTION OF MICHAEL DALE COCHRAN, SHANNON KAYE ROARK, TAMMY LEE ROARK and ROBERT RAY ROARK.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to-wit: Adoption of the minor children, Michael Dale Cochran, Shannon Kaye Roark, Tammy Lee Roark and Robert Ray Roark, as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.

If this citation is not served within ninety days after the date of its issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

The officer executing this writ shall promptly serve the same according to requirements of law, and the mandates hereof, and make due return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and the seal of said court at Canyon, Texas, this the 5th day of July A.D. 1973.

Attest: LaQuitta Polvadore, Clerk, 181st District Court, Randall County, Texas. By Nell Haws, Deputy.

Housing Survey To Be Conducted

A sample of households in the Canyon area will take part in a new nationwide survey of housing to be conducted annually by the Bureau of the Census, according to the Bureau's Data Collection Center in Dallas.

The 1973 survey, which began this week, will initiate a federal program, the annual housing survey, jointly planned by the bureau and the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The program is in response to a need for frequent and up-to-date data on U.S. housing, considered a prime indicator of the nation's economic health.

Heretofore, housing data has come only from the decennial censuses, irregular sample surveys, and one-time special studies. With regular surveys it will be possible to compare from year to year the number and types of housing, changes resulting from demolitions and new construction, the vacancy rate, the frequency of mechanical and utility breakdowns and other indicators of the physical condition of residential structures, as well as the characteristics of the occupants who move in and out over the years.

For the survey, a sample of 60,000 housing units out of the nation's total 68 million has been scientifically selected to represent a cross section of all housing. The sample was selected from 1970 census records and has been updated to include new construction.

Census Bureau representatives began interviewing this week and the work is expected to take about three months. Each household in the sample will be mailed an introductory letter prior to the interviewer's visit. For unoccupied units, information will be obtained from neighbors, landlords, and rental agents.

Joint HUD-Census reports will be issued, the first one expected in the fall of 1974. Statistics will be tabulated for the U.S., for each of the four regions, for Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas as a whole (both inside and outside central cities), and for the remainder of the country (nonmetropolitan areas).

All information obtained by the Census Bureau is kept confidential and the results are used only to compile statistical totals in which no household or housing unit can be identified.

Interviewers are locally hired and trained for their work. Each carries an official identification card with the bearer's photograph and signature.

1925 Bridge Club Meets Recently

The 1925 Bridge Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Milton Morris, 2414 Seventh Avenue with nine members and three guests present.

A dessert course was served to members Mrs. Jewell Hill, Mrs. Hershel Coffee, Mrs. J.M. Daugherty, Mrs. Roscoe Davis, Mrs. Joe Gibson, Mrs. Iuerson Leake, Mrs. A.H. Prichard, Mrs. E.E. Perkins and club guests Mrs. A.L. Walsh, Mrs. Joe Black, and Mrs. Dick Turner, from Phoenix, Ariz. and sister of Mrs. Morris.

It was reported that Mrs. J.M. Daugherty attended the funeral of her sister-in-law and Mrs. Ira Greenfield, of Post, spent the previous Monday afternoon in Plainview where her parents are buried.

Correction

In correction of an article appearing in the July 22 issue of The Canyon News, the Texas Angus Association's annual field day is scheduled for tomorrow and Saturday instead of Aug. 27, 28 as previously noted.

Happiness-Swift New Model, Scouts Camp Out

By TROYCE MULHERIN

Greetings, You All!

HAPPINESS IS HAVING your very own ten-speed bike — your very own "customized" ten-speed bike. Don't have to "borrow" one from the younger set anymore. (Got a reprieve from those back-breaking, always - looking - at - the - ground handlebars.) Always had the sensation of riding on the tum tum when using those curvy handles. No more. Big dad took the nice, sane, sensible handlebars off the vintage model yours truly once chugged along on, and attached same to the swift new model. "Swift new model" referring to the bike, not the cyclist. Zoom. Zoom.

PACK 130 OF the Cub Scouts spent a fun fun camp out in Palo Duro Canyon over the past weekend. Bill Edwards, Cub Master; Pete Solbrig, Webelo Leader; and Phil Gensler, Dedicated dad, were properly supervised in the ways of camping out, cooking, and chugging up and down the canyon. Tim Nash, Tim Seth, Tim Stokes, David Gensler, Len Gregory, Allen Toms, Kelly Mayfield, and David Bromley concentrated most of their efforts to earning the Arrow of Light. Same is the highest award in Cub Scouting. These Scouts plan to have such award earned by the middle of September. Bet this goal is accomplished by that time, too, this being one of the most active and dedicated groups of Scouts around!

VERY MUCH WORTH repeating: Registration at Gene Howe will be Monday, August 20th. The first day of school is Wednesday, August 22. The first day of school, otherwise known as "Mother's Liberation Day." Also, known as the day mother gets something nice for lunch — something entirely unlike what is served at the Big M in the sky!

IMPORTANT — IMPORTANT: ANY youngster(s) who will be attending Gene Howe School for the first time this fall, need to get themselves enrolled through pre-registration which starts August 1. Call Mr. Lawless at the school, 355-6501, or at home, 355-0127, and let him know of your intended presence, now! New students will simply have to get registered starting August 1, and the call will sure help with the ol' planning involved in getting school going. (We sure don't want to have any hitches arise in "getting school going," now do we!)

A VERY HAPPY to Von Dean McGregor, who celebrates each year on the 22nd. Oh, yes, her arm is doing much, much better. Not completely well, yet, you understand — but better.

VON DEAN'S AND Herb's daughter, Sherri, was recently elected Junior Queen of the Palo Duro Rangers Riding Club! Her mommy sewed up a lovely purple riding outfit for this lovely young lady to wear during parades. Sherri will represent the club in an official capacity as Queen. Congratulations on this honor!

JIMMY AND JAY Morrison finished up a job of prettifying the Methodist Church in Tulsa just in time for Sue to fly down and join them on a trip to Dog Patch, U.S.A. Actually Jimmy and Jay were doing some wall covering. And, Dog Patch is a lot like Disneyland or Six Flags. They had a lot of fun. Sue was sure grateful that her menfolk had put refrigerated air in the camper, too, what with the heat and humidity. Sue, who will soon be completing her studies, picked up some Tulsa kindergarten curriculum guides to be shared with some of the Amarillo and Canyon teachers.

HERRICK ALLEN GRADUATED a whole passel of Gene Howe square dancers this past weekend. He served as teacher and caller for the twelve Gene Howe youngsters receiving diplomas following a series of lessons spanning the last few months. Martha Cannon, Billy Cunningham, Kyle Balke, Cindy Todd, Lisa Erwin, Traci Bufkin, Bart Solbrig, Toby Cox, Rhonda Ray, Kendra Wallis, Terry Tennison and Steve Schmidt mastered the art of dos-a-dos and got "left" and "right" down pat enough to be invited to join the Teen Twirlers. This square dance group is composed of youngsters from the Canyon and Amarillo areas, and they dance at Wolflin School during the winter. During these warm, warm summer Saturday morning sessions, the group met in the Dick Balke's air conditioned playroom. Good, clean (and warming) fun.

DEBRA DROST, DAUGHTER of Sandy and Kenneth, celebrated her tenth birthday two times this year. First partying was done on her day, the 18th, with the family. Next day, she invited Carla Schmidt, Sheila Hicks, De Anna Henwood, Dena Harp and Shelley Shenk to join her for a turn on the rides at Wonderland Park. Back home for more birthday cake and ice cream. Many happies to this pretty miss!

TIM NASH, SON of Doris and James, had his buddy, Tim Seth, over to help celebrate his eleventh birthday on the 17th. Also, his big brother Randall called to wish him happies and to warn Doris he would soon be home for an extended visit. Happy to you, Tim Nash (and, bet you do, too, get more toys before Christmas!)

TOYS — THAT REMINDS — the only difference between men and boys is the price of their toys. (This is not original — it is borrowed from somebody. So true, tho, so true!)

THE LOVELY CAMPBELL girls, Darlene, Kelli and Darla, have returned from several days in West Texas. On the way to the family reunion held in Henderson, Darlene and her daughters visited in Denton with her brother, Deral Wakefield, for several days. On to Big D to pick up sister Raydell and Shonda, before heading to Henderson. Following the reunion, Darlene and her girls spent several days pampering themselves in Fort Worth. They stayed at the same hotel in Fort Worth where several of the Miss Texas contestants were staying, so got to see some pretty girls. (Humbug) (Those girls weren't any prettier than our girls.) Back home in time for that baseball picnic — read on —

OUR CHAMPION FOURTH grade team, co-coached by George Schmidt and Kenneth Drost, celebrated the end of the season with a picnic in Elwood Park last Thursday evening. The girls presented each of their coaches with a wooden bat on which all the player's names were engraved. (Just a coincidence that the bats are the same size as the ones the girls used this year). The coaches presented the girls some impressive trophies with their name and "Champ-73" engraved. On, yeah, the girls won another game. This one was against their parents — score 100-0. Need we say more? The team's third base coach (unofficial, but good), Diane Harp, whipped up a batch of cup cakes and etched thereon the numbers on the girls' baseball shirts in icing. Diane, and the team's scorekeeper, Ernestine Harp, were presented plaques in appreciation of their help. Faithful parents (otherwise known as the Nail-Chewing Cheering Squad) were presented with the reassurance that the season was really and truly finally over.

WELL, DARLING DAUGHTER is home from camp at Hidden Falls Ranch. (Gee, that week went fast!) Kaki was given a second place award in archery and a Bible memory award. The horse riding, swimming, camp outs, archery, rifle rang(ing) and running here and yon kept the little one too busy to get homesick. She brought her clean towels and wash cloths home to a clean room, a happy kitty and an anxious mom. Glad you are back, honey, (now pick up that room!)

SEE YOU NEXT week — same place — same time slot — new news (new news, if you call, that is).

THANKS FOR THE use of the hall.

Canyon Scout To Attend Meet

Representing Canyon at the massive week-long National Boy Scout Jambouree at Farragut State Park, Idaho, will be Rocky Stone, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. C.B. Stone of 2419 Seventh Avenue.

Rocky, a member of Boy Scout Troop 66, will leave Friday, joining with a scout troop from Stratford for the trip.

Enroute to the jambouree, which is scheduled Aug. 1 - 7, Rocky and the Stratford scouts have planned an itinerary of camping and sight-seeing that includes stays at Grand Junction, Colo., Grand Teton Forest, and Yellowstone National Park.

The scouts will also be touring several Air Force bases along the route.

Returning from the jambouree, the boys have planned stops at Coolidge Dam, Salt Lake City, Colorado Springs and parts of New Mexico.

Over 37,000 Boy Scouts from all over the nation are expected to attend the meet.

S.P.R.Y. Luncheon Scheduled Today

Members of S.P.R.Y. (Sixty Plus Rewarding Years), interdenominational senior citizen's club, will hold a covered dish luncheon at 11:30 a.m. today in the Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church.

Following the luncheon will be a brief worship service. Recreation will include table games.

Transportation to the luncheon may be arranged by contacting the Methodist Church office.

Highlighting the summer activities of S.P.R.Y. will be a five-day camp for older adults at the Ceta Canyon Methodist Camp. Scheduled Aug. 13 - 17, the camp will feature a variety of activities including, singing, craft-making and other recreation.

Variety Ring Holds Picnic

Members of the Variety Ring met last Friday for a picnic in the backyard of Mrs. Modena Barker, 1812 Seventh Avenue.

Those present for food and homemade ice cream were Mr. and Mrs. K.E. Hines, Mr. and Mrs. E.P. Harding, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Neal, Mrs. Lydia Matsler, Mrs. Mae Johnson, Mrs. Reeta Tucker, Mrs. Levi Cole, Mrs. Laura Hartman, Mrs. Roxie Hammons, and Mrs. Barker.

Also were guests Mrs. N.W. Roberts and Mr. Loyd Gordon. All persons attending are Canyon residents.

Burtz Family Gathers At Reunion

Baskets of food brought from the various homes represented were set out for the meal. New family members were introduced and visitors welcomed and after the meal, a short business meeting was held at which time plans were made to reunite the third Sunday in July at the same place next year.

Family members present included Mrs. Wade Bailey, Amarillo, and her son Kenneth and wife Betty with their three children Kenny, Karen, Jim Bob; Madge Kile, daughter of Mrs. Bailey, with her children Steve, Mark, Glenn, Laura, all of Fritch, and Sally Kile, Amarillo; Earl and Linda Petropoulos, Amarillo; Mrs. Bernard Fewell and her children, Craig, Kim, and Leigh, all of Amarillo; Claude Fewell, Lubbock; Vicki Matsler, Lubbock.

Also were Minnie Fewell, from Ropesville, and her daughter, son-in-law, and granddaughter, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Agan and Dana, of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. John A. Shewbert, Dalhart; Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Davis and Rhonda, Happy; Mrs. Earl Davis of Canyon.

Visitors outside of the family were Mr. and Mrs. Pete Leavitt and Jill, Happy; Mrs. J. J. Leavitt and Wilbur, Happy; Vanessa Word, Wolfforth; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wells, El Paso.

Mission Service Totals 26

Last Sunday's Palo Duro Canyon mission service attendance totalled 26 with representatives from Wichita Falls, Hereford and Canyon.

Bill Webb, director of the Baptist Student Union, led the singing and was accompanied on the organ by his wife, Guyda.

Ben Richardson, of Canyon and a student at WTSU, gave his personal testimony.

Dr. Roland Johnson, head of the department of business education at WTSU, was featured preacher.

Riley Troth, employed as a pharmacist at Ideal Food in Canyon and serving on the Hidden Falls Ranch Board of Directors, is in charge of Sunday's program.

Resident Attends Austin Conference

Mrs. Pauline F. Hefley, Canyon, attended the 38th annual convention of the Texas Association of Life Underwriters held in Austin last week in conjunction with the Association Management Conference.

Mrs. Hefley is currently treasurer of the Amarillo Association of Life Understudies and the first woman to serve in that capacity.

The Austin convention focused on outstanding speakers and the new legislation relating to the insurance industry.

SOW CARE REAP FARM SAFETY

No farm is immune to hazards! To be sure of profit on your farm, it's important to be sure of safety. Check buildings, machinery — keep them in good repair. Teach safety rules and see they're observed. Explain what to do in case of emergency. It pays to take extra precaution on your farm. It's your biggest asset.

Tri-State Rodeo To Begin Tomorrow

By MARY NEAL HENRY

THE HAPPY HIGH School Tri-State Rodeo begins tomorrow evening at 8 p.m. Performances will also be held on Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. and Saturday evening at 8 p.m. That is this weekend, July 27th and 28th. Stock will be furnished by the LX Rodeo Company of Santa Rosa, New Mexico.

HENRY "PING" CRAWFORD will be the announcer for the two day show. Ping is never speechless. He will be describing all events — bull riding, bareback riding, tie down calf roping, ribbon roping, chute dogging, team roping, for boys, and barrel racing, goat tying, pole bending, break-away roping and steer riding for girls. Those students participating will be high school age, 9th through 12th grades. Books have already closed for entries.

TROPHY BUCKLES WILL be awarded first, second, and third place winners. All-Round Cowgirl and All-Round Cowboy will receive a trophy saddle.

HAPPY JAYCEES WILL sponsor a dance in the Jaycee Hall following the Saturday night performance.

VERIE TIPPS HAS been chosen Tri-State Rodeo Queen. She is the daughter of Floyd and Betty Tipps.

YOUNG PEOPLE ALWAYS put on a good show. I'd recommend it for entertainment whether you prefer rodeo or not.

EDDIE JOE PEARSON and Guy Walt Via were flag bearers as the Swisher County 4-H led the grand entry at the opening of Tulia's rodeo. They also carried the flags in the parade, as the Swisher 4-H rode as a group. They looked very neat in their white shirts, green vests, levis and hats and green saddle blankets under their saddles.

WAYNE PEARSON DISPLAYED the two trophy saddles, to be given away this weekend at Happy's Tri-State Rodeo, in his pickup in the parade.

EUGENE JACKSON AND Tom Henry drove the now famous mules, Maude and May, pulling the red wagon and advertising Happy Days Celebration which is August 18th this year. Little Lloyd Rahlfs rode up front on the buck board with them. Gennie Jackson and friends rode in the wagon.

HAPPY COWBELLES WON second in the parade in the Commercial Division. We also plan to enter the float in the Happy parade on Saturday morning, August 18th. If you missed it the first time, you'll have to come to Happy. Skip Simons is chairman and did a fine job.

HAPPY JAYCEE-ETTES featured Miss Happy, Cathy Parker; Junior Miss Happy, Pearl Perez, and Little Miss Happy, Vickie Todd, in the parade as president, Dottie Foster, chauffered them in a red sports car.

MRS. JOHN BUTLER and Mrs. Melton McGehee attended the mid-year meeting of American National CowBelles in Vail, Colorado, last week. They traveled with Mrs. Jewel Avent of Tulia, who is second vice-president of Texas CowBelles and Mrs. Jack Carrothers of Hereford, who is president of the Texas CowBelles. Willie is Texas publicity chairman and Othella is Texas CowBelle's "Beef for Father's Day" chairman.

THEY REGISTERED AT Vail Manor on Wednesday. The theme of the meeting was "Enthusiam Makes the Difference." Purpose of the meeting was to educate CowBelles in all phases of the beef industry.

THURSDAY WAS REPORTS of all committees under the direction of the committee chairman. Workshops were also held. These were education in all phases of beef promotion. You could choose the workshop of your choice or the one which best suited your particular committee.

FRIDAY MORNING ALL CowBelles met in a general meeting for a workshop on parliamentary procedure. John L. Hutson, vice-president of the Beef Industry Council of Chicago, Illinois, also spoke to the group about beef industry and its objectives for the ensuing year. We have a heavy commitment to every segment of the public. Our goals are to establish with consumers a better understanding of economic conditions and a vast overall attitude about industry and product. The meeting closed with a noon luncheon on Friday.

ALL-BEEF COOKBOOKS will be on sale beginning November 1st. These contail 500 recipes in 224 pages, 16 of these in full color. It is 7 x 10 in size and has a hard cover.

THE TOTAL NUMBER of registered CowBelles was unavailable but it totalled more than expected. More chairs were moved into almost every session and workshop. CowBelles from eight Texas locals were represented. And at least these four state officers, Betty Carrothers, State President; Ellen Avent, Second Vice-President; Othella McGehee, "Beef for Father's Day" Chairman; and Willie Butler, State Publicity Chairman.

JUDY AND TUFFY Thompson and Kelly and Shi Hurst were in Cheyenne this week participating in Frontier Days and numerous others have gone as spectators. Some of those are Vera and Bill Eubanks and grandson, Bill Pearson; Vivian and George Woods and their Nancy and Mary Jane Miller, traveling with them; Judy and Gene Shipman and their Raphe and Mandi; Frank and Gracie Tirey; Mildred and Williard Middleton, Willa and Simon Elliott; and Don Ed and Jimmie Middleton.

OUR NEIGHBOR HAD two dogs and four cats when they left. Now they have eight dogs and four cats. (I wouldn't leave home anymore if I were them).

THE ADRIAN BATES have been traveling in Oklahoma and Arkansas to see some of Wanda's relatives.

LINDA AND POE Cabe and their Meredith and Kyle of McKinney are in Happy visiting — both Lena Bell Cabe and Novalene and John and Hol Toles.

CINDY TOLES HAS also been "home" from Austin.

CATHY PARKER HAS spent this week at band camp at WTSU. Chris Pearson and Cathy Parker have recently returned from 4-H Electric Camp.

VINT WAS IN church Sunday morning with his grandparents Lonas and Moon Wright.

JOAN AND REED McDonald and their Kelly and Terry vacationed through Oklahoma and on into Arkansas to the Amos Ratjen's cabin at Buena Vista, Arkansas. Deborah joined them with Bob and Linda McDonald and their David and Ronnie. Amos and Jettie Ratjen were there. Joan and R.A. Partlow and their Cindy, Don and Dennis of Lubbock made the family reunion complete. Buena Vista is near Bentonville, Arkansas.

MRS. LOIS TACKITT of Albany, Oregon, and Betty Jo Crumm of Weatherford and Mrs. Winnie Tackitt of Panhandle ate lunch Sunday with the Larry Tackitt family.

STUART AND LARRY Tackitt have been to Nogalis, Mexico (Old Mexico) on business for Bilt Rite Farms.

THE DICK RAILSBACK family has been away on vacation this week.

HAPPY JAYCEES AND Happy Jaycee-Ettes are working toward making these Happy Days a great celebration and homecoming. The old timers always enjoy it and that makes the hard work worthwhile.

HAPPY ALL STARS beat the Nazareth All-Stars at Nazareth last Friday night 19 to 17. Doug Sims knocked a homerun. Raphe Shipman tripled during the game. Mark Tackitt pitched the last three innings of this game and helped bring the Happy All-Stars from behind to win 19 to 17.

THE SECOND GAME at Happy again saw the Happy All-Stars trailing 8 to 4. Vincent Ray Venhaus pitched this game and knocked two homeruns during it. Then Happy began to hit and take advantage of their opportunities and tied the game and then went on to win this one also 9 to 8. This completes Happy's little league schedule.

HAPPY LITTLE LEAGUE All-Stars consisted of Vincent Ray Venhaus, Scott Morrison, Mark Tackitt, Doug Sims, Corin Freeman, Chuck Walker, Vance Morrison, Rod Walker, Hol Toles, Doug Peterson, Luther Vandergriff, Tommy Patillo, Bobby Strohmeyer, and Raphe Shipman. Congratulations!

HAPPY RODEO WILL be August 16, 17 and 18th. Stock will be furnished by the LX Rodeo Company of Santa Rosa, New Mexico.

G. A. DAY Camp is Friday at the church camp outside of Floydada. First, second, and third grade girls will be attending for the day at a cost of $4.50 each. Mildred Devin and Jeanne Johnson are taking these girls this year and they are most excited about it. They'll be leaving the church at 8 a.m. July 27th.

OVER $465 HAS been collected on the Cystic Fibrosis Campaign. Willie Butler says because the good people of Happy, Wayside, Arney, Union-Hill, Salem, Fairview, Jowell, Childress, and surrounding communities care, she is sure that the goal of $500 will be reached in this, the final week of the campaign. Please give!

See ya,
Mary Neal

Weekend Swim Meet To Stage Individual Competition At AC

The Regional 9 Junior Olympic and West Texas Age Group Swim Meet has been set for tomorrow through Sunday at the WTSU Activities Center with the Amarillo Aquatic Club hosting 13 teams.

Registered teams include two from Houston, one each from Austin, New Orleans, La., Ingleside, Lubbock, Midland, Arlington, San Antonio, New Braunfels and three from Amarillo.

Although the swimmers, ranging in age from six to seventeen, are arriving in teams, the competition will be on an individual basis only. Those in the 13 - 17 age group will be vying in the Junior Olympics category while the younger swimmers will be entering as West Texas Age Group contestants.

The meet will begin at 3 p.m. tomorrow, and at 8 a.m. Saturday and Sunday with Junior Olympic finals starting about 3 p.m. Sunday.

Top three place winners in the Junior Olympic category will receive medals and those individuals placing fourth through eighth will be awarded leather ribbons. High point trophies will be given to the top swimmer in each age category as follows, age ten and below, ages 11, 12, ages 13, 14 and ages 15 - 17.

Junior Olympic medals are being furnished by Junior Olympic sponsor, the Chevrolet Division of General Motors Corp.

The West Texas Age Group swimmers will not be eligible for Junior Olympic awards but will be practicing along with some of the Junior Olympics for the Tags Time Meet scheduled during August in Dallas. In the Junior Olympics division, first place winners in each event will automatically receive a paid trip to the national Junior Olympics Meet to be held at the University of Michigan in August.

Thurman Brown is the overall chairman of the Regional 9 Junior Olympics. He is from Pampa but lives in Canyon during the summer.

Director of the weekend meet is Dr. L.S. Nelson, Amarillo.

The public is invited to attend the swim meet and there will be no admission charge.

Marty Kuhlman Honored By Lions

Marty Kuhlman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Kuhlman of Canyon, was special guest this week at the meeting of the Evening Lions Club.

Marty recently attended the Lions' Crippled Children's Camp as Canyon chapter representative.

The Lions Club attempts each year to send at least one crippled child to the camp every summer.

Also honored at the meeting were 19 members from the Noon Lion's Club.

Homemaking-An Art Of Its Own

Featured homemaker, Mrs. Edgar Robinson, southwest of Canyon, exhibits her own creations and one of many collections including still life oil painting, red velvet paper roses, an antique diamond cut glass bowl, hand painted china, and dessert specialty, pineapple cake.

Keeping the home fires burning with the spirit of a wife, mother and grandmother that perhaps constitutes the very backbone of American family living is featured homemaker, Mrs. Edgar Robinson, who resides with her husband on a farm located southwest of Canyon.

Mrs. Robinson, otherwise known as Mattie Ruth, is the mother of two daughters and a son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Burrus and Mrs. Jean Wolfe as well as grandmother of John and Mike Wolfe, all of Tuscon, Ariz. Her husband, Edgar is a self-employed farmer.

Also are Elbert C. Robinson, living at Olsen Manor in Amarillo and father-in-law of Mrs. Robinson, and her parents Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Davenport, southwest of Canyon.

Feeling greatly her responsibilities as a homemaker, she claims that providing an atmosphere where love grows within a family and holds a family together through good and bad times alike to be her primary objective in life.

One of the first steps to good homemaking is good cooking and this area is one of Mattie Ruth's specialties. Following are three Robinson family favorites with Dilly Casserole Bread leading in popularity.

Dilly Casserole Bread

1 pk. active dry yeast
¼ C. warm water
1 C. creamed cottage cheese, heated until lukewarm
2 Tbs. sugar
1 Tbs. minced onion
1 Tbs. butter
2 tsp. dill seeds
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. soda
1 egg
2¼ to 2½ cups flour
Butter, salt

Soften yeast in warm water. In large mixing bowl, combine cottage cheese, sugar, onion, butter, dill, seed, salt, soda, egg and yeast. Gradually add flour to form a stiff dough, beating well after each addition. Cover, let rise in warm place until double in size (50 to 60 minutes). Stir, put in pan and let rise in warm place (30 to 40 minutes). Bake at 350 degrees for 40 to 50 minutes until golden brown. Brush with soft butter and sprinkle with salt.

Pineapple Cake

1½ C. sugar
2 C. flour
2 eggs
No. 2 can pineapple
½ C. oil
2 tsp. soda
¼ tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla

Add all at once and beat about three minutes with electric beater and pour in loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees. While hot pour on cooked icing consisting of:

1 stick of oleo
¾ C. sugar - white
1 1/3 C. brown sugar
1 small can of evaporated milk
2 tsp. flour

Cabbage Slaw (serves 15)

1 med. cabbage, chopped
1 med. onion, chopped
1 green pepper, chopped
2 carrots, chopped
2 stalks celery, chopped
1 can pimentos, chopped
1 C. sugar

Layer vegetables in casserole. Alternately sprinkle with sugar.

Dressing

1 C. salad oil
¾ C. vinegar
1½ Tsb. salt
1 tsp. celery seed

Bring oil, vinegar, salt and celery seed to boil. Pour over vegetables and cover tightly. Refrigerate at least four hours. Keeps indefinitely.

Although family comes first with Mattie Ruth, she fills spare minutes with a variety of hobbies and crafts as well as serving her community.

With a preference for painting china, she also dabbles in still life and landscape oil paintings, ceramics, paper flowers, crocheting and cast mold grapes. "One reason that china painting is my favorite is because it's such a challenge," said Mrs. Robinson.

Also, she collects antiques that have been handed down through the family, including "Thoughts of God," a book published in 1891, a diamond cut glass bowl dating over a hundred years back, one of the first recliners that Sears and Roebuck Co. handled, a china closet, dining room set. The book belonged to her husband's mother, Mrs. Elbert C. Robinson, and the bowl to his uncle, Mr. W. R. Clark. Most of the furniture was originally painted black which Mattie Ruth stripped and refinished, exposing the natural wood grain.

In addition, the featured homemaker spends much of her free time sewing items for the house such as drapes as well as clothes for her daughters and grandsons.

On the community level, Mattie Ruth Robinson assists with a Rainbow Girls group, is active in Eastern Star, a bridge club at Happy, the Pleasantview Home Demonstration Club, Happy Cowbelles, and the First Presbyterian Church of Canyon.

Concerning the world outside, Mattie Ruth said "We're protected out here from a lot of the things that go on today but if I had one wish for the world, it would be security."

Community Supports Replenishing Buffalo Lake

By REBA RAEF

WE AGREE WHOLEHEARTEDLY with Judge Woody Pond's idea of replenishing the water supply in Buffalo Lake, using Lake Meredith water. It sounds like a sure way to keep Buffalo Lake open for the good recreational area that it is. We in Umbarger, will do all that we can to further the cause. We just hope that the "right" people will agree.

THE MAX HOFFMAN'S are showing their guests, Gunter and Charlotte Damke, from Aacen, Germany, some of the sights in our country. Last week they took them to Palo Duro Canyon to see "TEXAS," and they received the prize for traveling the longest distance to see the show. They both enjoyed the production very much. They also toured New Mexico points of interest in Eagle Nest, Cimmarron and Red River. At Red River, they enjoyed a ride on the ski lift. They then went to the Taos Indian Reservation, where they took pictures. Then, they went on to Santa Fe, to see more Indians and the beautiful churches. They returned by way of Las Vegas, New Mexico. The guests were surprised at so much unoccupied land, as Germany is so very thickly settled. On Sunday, the Hoffman home was the scene of a triple birthday celebration, of Max Hoffman and two of his grandchildren, Sandra Klueskens and Ronnie Adams. Guests were the Max P. Hoffman's and daughters and the Harroll Adams and children, from Amarillo; the Carl Klueskens and children and Carl's mother Mrs. Nettie Klueskens, from Dawn; Tommie Brown, from Hereford; the Dave Riley's and children, the La Dean Adams family, the Carroll Adams family and the Darroll Adams family, from Umbarger. Refreshments of homemade ice cream and birthday cakes were served to 45 guests.

THE CHILDREN OF the Louie Wieck's helped their dad celebrate his birthday Monday evening, July 23, in the Wieck home. Attending the ice cream and cake party were Bob and Elsie Wieck and children and Melvin and Kathy Wieck, from Amarillo, Fred and Marie Wieck and children, from Canyon and Jan, from Umbarger.

GENE HASCHKE, LLOYD Wilhelm, Kenneth and Marvin Hartman left Sunday for a weeks camping trip in New Mexico. They towed their cycles and plan to do a little hill climbing while there.

MR. AND MRS. Kenneth Smith, from San Antonio, Mrs. Francis Christ, from High Hill, Texas and Rose Kalich, from Slaton visited Sunday in the home of E.J. Friemel. They also visited with the Cotton Friemels and the Lee Haschkes. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Christ are nieces of E.J. Friemel.

RAYMOND AND CATHERINE Batenhorst, daughter Donna and niece, Janie Batenhorst and Mr. and Mrs. J.G. Batenhorst left Monday for Grovespring, Missouri. They will visit with Werner and Laverne Henscheid and family. Laverne is a daughter of the J.G. Batenhorst's.

BERNARD AND BARBARA Hartman and children, Marion and Suzy Hicks and sons, Kenneth and Sylvia Artho and children from Hereford and the Gene Fangman family, from Vega are vacationing at the Bruce Spruce Ranch, in Pagosa Springs, Colorado.

THAT ABOUT WRAPS it up for now. If you have news, remember that I need to have the item by Monday evening, so that I can get it to the News by Tuesday noon.

Book Donations Progressing Well

Miss Ada V. Clark, librarian of the First United Methodist Church of Canyon, has been busy over past weeks distributing some 700 books donated to the church by Rev. J. Frank Peery.

In a church library report given recently, Miss Clark outlined the progress made by the donation project.

Some 300 books and 125 pamphlets were retained for church use, she said.

Canyon High School Library received 25 books from the collection. Canyon Junior High School Library chose 250 books and pamphlets to meet their needs, Miss Clark said.

Canyon Public Library selected 51 books for their use.

The church library committee selected a group of books which they believe can be used by the King's Manor Retirement Home in Hereford.

The collection also includes numerous English-language works printed in Russia. Miss Clark said that the committee is inquiring about their possible use by the West Texas State University history department.

Books of sermons and theological works were given over to the use of Revs. Bill Kent, new church pastor, and John Waggoner, director of the Methodist Student Center.

WTSU Archeologist States Case For Mackenzie Dam Excavations

Construction on the $8 million Mackenzie Dam project proceeds apace as two state agencies, one charged with preserving the state's reservoir of antiquities, the other with providing the state with its reserves of water, clash over the question of who should pay for the salvaging of artifacts from the dam area.

"It's not a question of whether or not the dam should be built," says West Texas State University professor Jack Hughes. "All of us are aware of the need for the water the dam will provide. It's a question of getting responsible state agencies to act responsibly."

Hughes is one of many state archeologists interested in the 14 sites nominated to the National Register of Historic Places which are now threatened by inundation when water is impounded behind the dam.

The amount required for salvaging artifacts from the 14 sites, which range from campsites of Indians who roamed the Plains 10,000 years ago, to dugouts of early Panhandle settlers, is $82,000, or one-tenth of one per cent of the total cost of the dam project, Hughes said.

Charged with the responsibility of preserving the state's historical sites is the Antiquities Committee, a seven-member body appointed by the governor. As a "last-ditch" effort to get the needed funds for the project, Hughes said the committee is prepared to seek a court injunction to prevent the Mackenzie Dam from impounding water late this year.

In a Texas State Historical Survey Committee report compiled three years ago by archeologist Jim Malone, the Mackenzie sites were described in detail and the proposal was made for excavation of the area at a cost of approximately $70,000. At that time, a West Texas State University archeological team was recommended to carry out the project.

However, said Hughes, as time dwindled on and no funds were forthcoming, the project became too massive for the university to undertake within the short time period. Texas Tech University then volunteered to assist in the project. With the two university teams prepared to go in at first notice to salvage the artifacts, funds were still not in sight.

A bill sponsored by Senator Max Sherman of Amarillo asking for a special appropriation for the work failed to pass in the last legislative session.

Before the bill reached the legislature, however, Dr. Hughes said that Texas Water Control Board representatives told the antiquities committee that "if no appropriation bill was passed, that they (the TWCB) would probably be able to finance the project.

"But when the bill was voted down, the Water Control Board, after being asked for the offered funds, claimed it had 'no further responsibility' for the sites," Hughes said.

"The question among archeologists interested in the site was 'why has the Water Control Board been stringing us along like this when we could be exploring other avenues of financing?' " said Hughes.

If precedents in the state involving financing of such archeological projects are taken into account, Hughes said the tab for the work should be picked up by the Texas Water Control Board.

In the Antiquities Code, passed some years ago when the seven-member committee was established, a provision calls for all state agencies to cooperate in the preservation of antiquities on public land.

Shortly after the code was approved, the Texas Highway Commission created its own archeological staff charged with the responsibility of salvaging antiquities threatened by highway construction in the state. Dr. Hughes' son, David, has been employed on the Highway Department archeological team for the past three seasons.

The Water Development Board has also cooperated in financing archeological survey work in the past, Hughes said.

On the national level, a Federal Antiquities Act, passed early in the 20th Century, recognized the interests of the public in preservation of threatened historical resources. The National Park Service was charged with the responsibility of preserving such sites on the federal lands, said Hughes.

The question of "who should pay?" which Hughes sees as a strictly legalistic one, is now before the State Attorney-General.

"It's not as if we're trying to bring the bulldozers working on the dam to a grinding halt," says Dr. Hughes. "Or that we are trying to preserve the sites in their entirety. We just want to see that the area is properly excavated, and the valuable artifacts salvaged, before the area is flooded.

"There seems to be a misunderstanding about what is being attempted by the Antiquities Committee. They are by no means standing in the way of progress. It's just that each state agency has its own responsibility, for preservation of public resources. Some are in charge of water resources, others soil resources, and others, historical resources. And no one is eager to see one set of resources entirely destroyed by the other."

He added that the agencies involved in the destruction of resources of another agency "ought to be charged with the financial responsibility" for salvaging the threatened resource.

Curtis Tunnell, State Archeologist active in trying to get the needed funds, is a former WTSU student of Dr. Hughes. A native of Turkey, Tunnell according to his former teacher "is as interested as anybody in the area involved in seeing that vitally-needed water is provided for the area surrounding the dam project."

Describing the artifacts in the Mackenzie Dam area, Hughes said that most of the antiquities are campsites dating back to the archaic stage in Texas archeology, from about 5,000 B.C. to the time of Christ. The period, according to Hughes, is one of the least-known in Texas archeology.

"A lot of the evidence of this little-known period is to be found in the Texas Panhandle. So far, however, there have been very little excavations and I'd hate to think of these good, big campsites at Mackenzie being flooded out."

Equally interesting are the living sites of the Paleo Indians, the earliest known ancestors of the Indians on this part of the continent, believed to have lived from 10,000 B.C. to 5,000 B.C., Hughes said.

"Most of what we know about these Indians, the earliest known inhabitants of the New World, is to be found on the High Plains, to where the late Ice Age herds of animals were attracted by the vast grazing lands. These people were big game hunters. Unique to them are several varieties of distinctive projectile points used for spearing. These are classified by names like Folsom, Plainview, Clovis, and other regional towns."

Later remains to be found in the Mackenzie area are those of the Neo-Indians, who populated the region from the time of Christ to the coming of Coronado in the 16th century. According to Hughes, these people were secondary horticulturists, or hoe gardeners, supplementing their hunting activity with some cultivation of such crops as corn, beans and squash.

Although evidence of the Neo-Indians is to be found all along the Canadian River breaks, the Mackenzie site is unusual in that it is to date the southernmost point at which remains of Neo-Indian living sites are to be found, said Hughes.

Representing the modern epoch of Texas history in the dam area is an unusually well-preserved dugout belonging to one of the Panhandle's earliest settlers.

Hughes sees the controversy now being waged between the antiquities and water control agencies as a momentous one in that it involves a vital problem of balancing resources. He sees parallels both in the raging battle over oil and ecological resources in Alaska, and in the Aswan Dam Project in Egypt, undertaken in the 1950s.

"We need oil. We need water. And we need nature. Some people put one or the other first, and the others second. What is needed is a reasonable compromise. Complete destruction of one or the other doesn't have to be," he says.

"When the Aswan Dam was being built, great antiquities were threatened by flooding. At that time, several nations of the world came together in an attempt to salvage the artifacts.

"And it's a fact known probably to a few interested archeologists, that since World War II, the federal government has undertaken archeological salvage work in all of its tremendous reservoir projects. The work goes on smoothly today.

"The problem, it seems, lies with questions of state financing," he said.

He added that if the Attorney General does not hand down a favorable ruling for financing the project, the Antiquities Committee will go to the governor's office for aid. If the coffers are empty there also he concluded, than the committee will have no place to go but to the courts in an attempt to get an injunction to forestall the flooding of the area until some agency, individual or private foundation provides the funding for the project.

Enrollment Up In WT Session

Final enrollment for the second summer term at West Texas State University totals 2205 students.

That total compares with 1965 students who enrolled for the second summer term in 1972.

Dr. Donald Cates, registrar and dean of admissions, said the figure represents an increase of 240 students this year.

Cates refused to speculate on whether the increase would continue with fall semester figures.

He pointed out that students attending summer terms at the university are generally not the same students who would attend regular terms. He has said that teachers make up a large part of the summer school enrollment.

Archery is just one of a variety of activities that will be available to all interested teenagers at Hidden Falls Ranch during Two-To-Ten Day scheduled for Saturday. Reservations should be turned in by sponsors and teenagers no later than today. A $2 fee will be charged for each person which includes lots of food, horseback riding, hiking trail rides, swimming and singing.

Area Players Place High In Recent Tourney

Tennis partners, Miss Alexis Hefley, Canyon, and Miss Yvonne Berryhill, Amarillo, won second place in the Panhandle Closed - TAAF District Tennis Tournament held recently in Amarillo.

Also, Mark Sullivan, Canyon and partner, Blake Donnell, of Amarillo, placed first in 14 doubles and second in 16 doubles. Sullivan took the first place spot in 14 singles.

This weekend Miss Hefley and Miss Berryhill will enter second seed 14 girls' doubles in the regional TAAF tournament scheduled in Amarillo.

The state tournament will be held in Waco for which the first and second place winners from the regional tourney will be eligible.

Big Brothers Drive Continues

Fund drive for Big Brothers of Canyon continues through the weekend.

Directors of the newly-formed organization are contacting local businessmen this week for contributions to help finance a Big Brothers office in Canyon and a part-time consultant.

Currently, Jim Ashford is president of the organization and Clark Wooldridge is consultant.

More than 100 individuals have already been contacted by mail to help finance the office.

In addition, service clubs and other clubs in the city will be asked to contribute.

Bagging A Work Of Art

"Controlled accident" is what Dr. Emilio Caballero, West Texas State University art department head calls the art technique he has created in which plastic cleaning bags swathed in paint are swished across canvas to create a work of art.

Students in Caballero's multiple listing art class, which includes sophomores, seniors and graduate students, were experimenting with the novel technique in this week's classes. The results, in many cases, were unique textural works.

"They just keep on dipping the plastic in paint and sliding it across the canvas until something interesting appears. Then they grab it and elaborate on it, creating an unusual design," Caballero explained.

Looking on at Dr. Caballero as he attempted to evoke an image from her canvas with a plastic bag daubed in red, green and black, one student being helped along by her professor said ruefully, "My accident just doesn't seem to be happening."

Indiana Man Dies In Wreck

A 43-year-old Indianapolis man died Monday night of an apparent heart attack just before his luxury car crashed into a tree a mile north of Canyon.

Lawrence Ham Collins was pronounced dead on arrival at Neblett Hospital about 9:15 p.m. by Justice of the Peace W.A. "Bill" Wilson.

Wilson said an autopsy revealed Collins died of a heart attack just prior to the accident which occurred about 9 p.m. on U.S. 87.

Authorities said Collins' vehicle went out of control as it was approaching Canyon, swerved across the median and hit a tree.

Collins had been employed by Kosum Communications, Inc.

Funeral arrangements will be in Tazewell, Tenn.

Local arrangements were by LaGrone Funeral Chapel.

Funeral Services Held For Resident's Sister

Funeral services were held recently for Miss Annie Hammond, the sister of John L. Hammond, 1208 Ninth Avenue, who died in her home at Starkville, Miss., July 14, 1973.

Attending the July 16, 1973 funeral services were Mr. and Mrs. John L. Hammond, Mrs. Billy Bible, Alamosa, Colo., and Mrs. Bernard Warren, Canyon, both nieces of Miss Hammond.

The funeral services were held at the Self Creek Baptist Church, Miss. and she was buried at the Double Springs family cemetery located in the same area.

Services Today For Grandfather Of City Woman

The grandfather of a Canyon woman, Mrs. Carroll Wilson, died at his home in Amarillo Tuesday morning.

Walter B. Taylor, 83, a 20-year resident of Amarillo, died following a lengthy illness. He had been a supervisor at Amarillo Air Force Base.

Services will be today in Amarillo and in Margaret, Texas.

FARM SAFETY WEEK

RANDALL COUNTY FARMERS UNION

Students Camp It Up For Talent Show

Amarillo music camp participants Sandra Koesjan (left) and Sylvia Carter perform a viola-violin duo in a practice room.

- - - - Students preparing to go on found the un-air-conditioned backstage true to its name — as hot as a branding iron.

There just weren't enough seats to go around Tuesday evening at the Branding Iron Theatre, as some 600 Instrumental Music Camp students poured in to watch each other blow their own horns during the student-directed Camp Talent Show.

Faced with the BIT's seating capacity of 300 with about twice that many students in attendance, the youngsters solved the space problem themselves by doubling up in chairs, sitting on the wings of the stage, and appropriating big chunks of the backstage area, peeking at the goings-ons on stage from behind the wine-colored curtain.

Although the Camp offers a wide variety of extra-curricular activities, Dr. George Umberson, camp director, says the Annual Talent Show, which is coordinated by students themselves, seems to be the top attraction of the two-week camp.

Serving as emcee for the show was Jeppie Wilson, Monahans senior at WTSU. Show coordinator was Tommie Woody, Dumas sophomore at the University.

The show-stealer of the evening seemed to be a skit not even in the vying for the trophies to be presented to the winners of the competition.

The Dorian Quartet plus One strode onto the stage armed with cellos, violins and such, and after fingering their sheet music with a great show of dignity, stiffly sat down to perform.

The high-sounding name of the group was taken from a sophisticated chamber music ensemble that performed last year at WT. The camp quartet, however, quickly proved to be a spoof as members were introduced by names obviously satirizing several camp band directors.

Students had to hold their sides laughing when the "plus one" strode in looking like a bewigged Bernstein and going by the name of Mr. George Upberson.

Tapping his baton on the dais, Mr. Upberson (portrayed by Tommie Woodie) went through a series of preparatory rigors before the concert finally began. When the music started, the tune was one everyone could recognize — "When you say Bud — you said it best." An encore was demanded by the audience. But the quartet members plus one ignored the shouts of "More!" as they strutted off the stage with a pompous air.

Taking the honors of the evening were Together, a gospel singing duo, who won the first place trophy. Cindy Schenk, a petite gymnast who presented a floor exhibition, was second place winner. Kim Dixon, a blonde soprano, received the third place trophy for her stirring performance of the "New 23rd Psalm."

Other participants included Beverly Hecks, a modern dancer; The Odessa Permian Twirlers; Stacy Pool, singer-composer; Doug Chapman, a comedian-impressionist who brought laughs for his take-off on actor Jimmy Stewart; The Currys, a brother-sister singing duo; The Dixie Bells, a twirling ensemble; Janie Howard, a pop singer; Phill Maxwell and Mark Vasiech, folk singers, and Candace Leber, tap-dancer.

On Wednesday evening, the BIT filled once again, this time to see the camp band directors have their hour upon the stage. Students attending had the opportunity to see how their camp instructors handled themselves in performance.

Sharing the bill with the Directors' Band were the Camp Choir and the Brass Choir.

The camp reaches high pitch this evening with the gala Music Camp Ball, scheduled from 8-11 p.m. in the Activities Center ballroom. Music for the event will be supplied by Black Water Draw, a Canyon rock group.

Capping off the two-week camp on Friday will be a huge closing concert, beginning at 1 p.m. and continuing through the evening hours.

As of newstime, the eleven bands were still struggling over programming for the concert, trying to select the best numbers that epitomized the talents of the young musicians.

However, a sampling of the day's concert offerings can be gleaned from the repertory of the Junior High Honors Band, consisting of seventh, eighth and ninth graders of the highest level of ability in their age group.

Submitted by clarinetist Jay Ferranti, the band program for Friday evening includes highlights from Meredith Wilson's "The Music Man," featuring the brass section in "Seventy-Six Trombones." Also programmed are Paul Yoder's "Tokyo Tower," and "S.S. Eagle March," a Robert Russell Bennett composition recommended by music educators for performance in AAAA High School competition.

Ferranti, who is serving as the News' unofficial camp correspondent, calls the program "exciting music" but says that the word is that many of honors band director W. A. Anderson's colleagues have been "fussing at him" for making his students perform such difficult pieces.

"But to me, it's a challenge," says the young clarinetist.

The day's concert will be free to the public, who may come and go at will during the performances, said Dr. Gary Garner.

The performance schedule is as follows:

1 p.m. — Junior Varsity Band, G. T. Gilligan, director.

1:30 p.m. — Junior Concert Band, Donald Hanna, director.

2 p.m. — Junior Symphonic Band, Gary Zook, director.

2:30 p.m. — Varsity White Band, Dan Gibbs, director.

3 p.m. — Varsity Maroon Band, Charles Nail, director.

3:30 p.m. — Concert Band, Norvil Howell, director.

4 p.m. — Stage Band, David Ritter, director.

6 p.m. — Orchestra, Mike Matesky, director.

6:30 p.m. — Junior Honors Band, W. A. Anderson, director.

7 p.m. — Symphonic Band, J. R. McEntyre, director.

7:30 p.m. — Honors Band, Gary Garner, director.
